

Are You An Expert?

In Transportation and Environmental Issues

The AASHTO Center for Environmental Excellence is looking for highly qualified individuals to form a national cadre of on-call experts to serve the environmental needs of transportation agencies and the transportation needs of environmental agencies. Multidisciplinary teams of experts will be formed to provide technical assistance, along with strategic planning and guidance, in the most challenging issues facing transportation and environmental regulatory agencies.

- Both transportation and environmental professionals are needed.
- Experts must be available on relatively short notice (30 days).
- Site visits (3-5 days) may be required.
- Total project lengths will vary from 1 to 6 months.

AASHTO invites applicants from federal, state, and local transportation and environmental agencies, private consulting, nonprofit groups, environmental advocacy groups, and academia. AASHTO seeks experts who have a national reputation (and passion) for promoting environmental excellence, environmental streamlining, and environmental stewardship in transportation.

An application form will be available at <http://itre.ncsu.edu/AASHTO/experts> on or before January 31, 2003.
